THE HOME FRONT-

We're really getting tough these days. We have learned to take it, and because we have learned to take it, we are able to dish it out. dish out the tanks and planes and ships and weapons which will lock our enemies.

Right now, home fronters are taking in their stride developments which might have thrown many of us off balance a few months ago. In our progress toward the efficient practice of total war, we have been like the army recruit whose training takes off fat, puts on muscle and sinew. The barrack bag which dragged along the ground at first is hoisted shoulder high in one quick easy movement. That bag is heavier, if anything, than before. But he is stronger. He is a soldier now.

Launch Manpower Program

The past week brought new proof that we are growing lean and hard, that we are putting everything we have into our punches. For instance the great program for complete mobilization of our manpower.

We are fighting a three-sided war . . . war on the field of arms, war under the factory roof, war on the rolling farms. To win this war, we are raising a fighting force of at least 8,000,000 soldiers and sailors together with a labor force of 20,000,000, and an agricultural force of 12,000,000 men and women. If any one of these armies fails, all will fail.

Must Not Waste Manpower

The first of total war is not to waste manpower. Everyone must be fitted into the task for which he is best suited . . there must be no square pegs in round holes.

SHEPHERD—MESSICK

The marriage of Miss Julia Louise Messick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Messick, of Irvington, Virginia, and William Jennings Shepherd, son of Mr. Peter Jennings Shepherd and the late Mrs. Shepherd, of Buckingham, took place in Baltimore, Md., on Saturday May 9th.

Mrs. Shepherd was graduated from Westhampton College, and has been teaching in the Tappahannock high school for the past two years.

Mr. Shepherd, a former resident of Buckingham and Farmville, is employed with Greyhound Bus Company, of Richmond and Baltimore.

They will make their home in Irvington for the summer.

If the size of a product is reduced from what it was in March, the seller is not allowed under the General Maximum Price Regulation to charge the same price he charged in March. The Maximum Price must be reduced accordingly.

BATTLE TO RETURN TO POST IN ARMY

Richmond, June 3.- Marion S. Battle, for the past four years director of the Division of Motor Vehicles, has received his commission as Lieutenant-Colonel U. S. Army, and his orders to report for duty July 1st at the office of the Provost Marshall General in Washington.

While our fighting forces hold the battle front let's not chisel away the home front.

Awaken the individual and you awaken the nation.

Rigid government control of prices is strictly a wartime measure. In a recent message to retailers, Price Administrator Lean Henderson said that the General Maximum Price Regulation would be abandoned as soon as possible after peace comes.

MUST FILE LIST OF PRICES WITH BOARD BY JULY 1

Every retailer must file by July 1 with his nearest War Price and Ration Board a statment showing his maximum prices for all cost-of-living commodities offered for sale in his store.

It's time now that we got under our responsibilities instead of standing on our rights.

Don't Forget Your Alka-Seltzer

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

WHEN you consider the new products we've seen developed in our time . . . you'd think that just about everything worth while in the world was invented in the last few years.

It's kind of refreshing, for a change, to find out that some pleasant things in our modern life date way back to ancient days.

For instance—I read the other day about a piece of pottery some archaeologist dug up in Mesopotamia. On the pottery was a picture of two brewery workmen making beer.

That picture was 6,000 years old!

You know, that's something to think about. Beer...5,000 years ago! I wonder if it tasted anything like the good lager beer I have sent up to the house every now and then.

Somewhere else, I read that beer came over on the Mayflower—in fact, if I remember right, a shortage of beer was one of the reasons why the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock instead of somewhere else.

Interesting, isn't it, the way a simple, everyday beverage like beer can get tangled up with history!

Maybe it's because there's something fundamental and human about beer. It's the beverage of moderate, sensible, well-behaved people in every part of the world, and always has been.

Personally, I like it because it tastes so good and is so refreshing . . . and I know I can trust it. And I get a thrill out of thinking that maybe some writer fellow back in ancient Egypt or ancient Mesopotamia, thousands of years ago, felt the same way about beer as I do.

It's a small world, after all . . .

So Much-and No More!

Says Uncle Sam

Uncle Sam has found it necessary to ration some things, stop the manufacture of others. Most electric appliances have been barred "for the duration". That means that those you now own will have to last a long time. Be sure that yours are in good shape. Have your local dealer check them if you're in doubt. Then make the most efficient use of your electric appliances. You'd be surprised at the savings you can make—foods cooked properly with no waste in nutrition or fuel—refrigerators defrosted regularly, operated efficiently—water heaters put to use only when necessary—all appliances kept in good repair.

Hero's a typical "Oven Meal"

Using your range oven to capacity is one way of saving. Plan meals like the one illustrated to the right. It can be cooked at one time in the oven — you save food, time and fuel. It's patriotic to save these days! Keep abreast of the latest ideas on Conservation and Savings.

TO THE GRADUATES

There seems to be a general feeling that within a few years after this war is over, there is going to be a terrible depression. It is said that such a depression will exceed that of the last decade.

BUT, need it be so?

We do not have the gift of prophecy. Perchance despite all that we may do, there will be a great lowering of the standard of living. Certain it is that the need of hard times planted by the Four Horsemen of War, according to history, yield a harvest of suffering and depression.

But, need it be so?

Right now, the present generation has its hands full with the gigantic task of winning the war, of maintaining the dignity of man, and the right to live in the democratic way.

When the victory is won, we will take stock of the price we have paid, and will REBUILD

We have a feeling that graduates of the class of 1942 will have a part in determining whether or not the predicted depression follows the war.

It is our candid opinion that there need not be another depression. The productive capacity of the world will have reached its all-time peak within another year. The largest mass of skilled workers the world has ever known will be on the assembly and the delivery line. The cry for raw materials will have been solved by the inventive skill of man.

There will be unlimited productive capacity, workers and materials.

And after war years of ration, the DEMAND, the market for commodities, will be the greatest in all history. The post-war world will be a salesmen's paradise!

Need there be a depression?

We put the question to the graduates of 1942.

And, let us hasten to point out that all depressions are not economic depressions. There are also moral and spiritual depressions! We have had our share of them in the past.

There's another challenge for the graduate! Master the temptation for a moral and spiritual let-down in the post-war decade!

That is most important of all.

It will require a combination of skill and character to make good in the post war world. Amazing achievements await. Mankind can press on to the golden age of enlightened progress.

Earnestness and intelligence will not go unrewarded.

In the bright horizon of youth there need be no world fatigue!

FOR THE DURATION ONLY

The American people are accepting in good grace the rationing, rules and price control and other measures deemed essential to winning the war. It is indeed, a unique experience for the American people to live under such rigid controls.

We cheerfully accept the necessity of these controls for the "duration.' And we will accept the even more rigid controls likely to come.

But, let it be understood that upon the arrival of peace, all the ration and price control will be abolished.

The traditional free American system must be reestablished as quickly as possible when the war is over.

THE SPIRIT THAT WINS

What is the spirit that wins? Have you got it? It is not the sort of thing every nation at war automatically has. It needs to be created.

It is one thing to want America to win the war; it is another to pay the price of victory.

In a nation at war there is no place of division. Division helps the enemy. It starts when folk don't get along . . . when they insist on their own way . . or when groups put their own interests first and those intercats conflict.

The victory spirit means putting an end to division by putting right your side of it, instead of waiting for the other fellow. This takes courage and sacrifice.

The victory spirit means living for the nation all the time. Some folk expect the troops to live under discipline, and to sacrifice their very lives while they themselves go on doing as they please. This must change.

The victory spirit means there needs to be an idea behind our war effort, a superforce empowering every American— the overwhelming answer of free men to the driving force of the "Nazis." This means that every American daily faces the choice between sacrificing his country for his selfishness, or sacrificing his selfishness for his country. William Penn laid this choice before our fathers, when he said: "Either we will be governed by God, or we will be ruled by tyrants.'

To build that victory spirit is every American's greatest possible contribution to the success of our war effort.

HOME TRUTHS FOR HOME DEFENSE

By Victor Kitchen

We've been so busy fighting each other that we haven't been ready to fight with each other for each other.

We sing "God Bless America,' but what kind of America do we want God to bless? If it's that selfish go-as-you please land where every body wants and gets his own way, that may not be the sort of land the Lord himself has in mind. And regardless of how loud we sing I doubt that He will heed our petition.

Wishful thinking won't end war:

We'd like to see it end this year. But we won't end this fight before We end our hate, and greed and fear.

Greed must go so that we learn To stand together as one man; And fear our aims must turn Into one common mind and plan.

Hate must go to bring release When conquerors, we stand before Our vanquished foes and build a peace That will endure forever more.

This year we will overtake and pass the axis powers in arms production. But we must overtake and pass them in other ways too:

1. They have lived hard for twenty years. We have lived softly.

2. They have a definite world purpose and have clearly expressed it. Our world purpose is still vague and inarticulate.

3. They have a national philosophy —know where they are going, what they are fighting for and why. We still think chiefly of what we are fighting against.

IN MEMORIAM— In loving memory of our dear Father, Milton E. Reynolds, who died five years ago, May 27, and our dear Mother, who died five years ago, June 12.

Days of sorrow still come over us,
Hidden tears so often shed,
Memory keeps our dear father and mother with us,
Though they died five years ago.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a lonliness,
The world can never fill.

Now they are gone, but not forgotten,
Never will their memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts will always linger
Around the graves where they are laid.

What You Buy With

WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it ponton, not "pontoon", as you do. Ponton bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontons is pictured here. The largest ponton bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest ponton, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 per cent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

* CANADA KEEPS 'EM FLYING

REPAIRING an engine nacelle or the engine-cowling framework in one of Canada's 20 aircraft overhaul plants, this girl is employed in a program which keeps the ships of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan flying every day. At the peak it is planned to overhaul about 10,000 planes annually. The Canadian aircraft industry employs more than 40,000 workers and is turning out well over 2,000 planes annually. In order to match Canadian production on a per rata population basis the United States would have to produce about 35,000 planes yearly. Canada has spent more than $291,000,000 on aircraft, not including an additional large sum provided by the government as capital assistance to aircraft manufacturers.

The aircraft program includes seven types of training ships, fighters, bombers and reconnaissance craft. In two years the Royal Canadian Air Force now sending men to every theatre of war in "staggering numbers", has developed its program from the planning stage to full fruition. In addition to its remarkable exploits on the active fronts, the R.C.A.F. is guarding the country's lengthy coastlines and training many thousands of flying fighters from

FLOODS DESTROY BASS, FISH EXPERT REPORTS

Richmond, June 2.- The destruction of fish life and spawning grounds which resulted from recent flood waters will undoubtedly have a serious effect upon bass fishing in several streams of western Virginia, it was reported by fish expert G. W. Sadler to Carl H. Nolting, chairman of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

The effects of the heavy rains of May, which proved disastrous to nesting bass in a number of well-known fishing streams, may last for several years, according to Mr. Sadler. Nesting bass, fish spawn, and fry were swept away by the floods, it was explained, and many bass which had not spawned will be prevented from doing so by the serious disturbance of the stream bottoms in the spawning areas. While many black bass west of the Blue Ridge mountains do not spawn until June, most of the rock bass, or red-eye, spawn earlier.
